Five Would Be Republican Gov.

PETITIONS IN LAST SATURDAY AFTERNOON

Lansing, July 31.—With five entries for the republican nomination for governor and five for lieutenant governor, the lists closed at 4 o'clock Saturday afternoon for the August primaries. The heads of the state tickets of the two leading parties are:

GOVERNOR

Republican—
Frank B. Leland, Detroit.
Gerrit J. Diekema, Holland.
Albert E. Sleeper, Bad Axe.
Washington Gardner, Albion.
Sybrand Wesseliuss, Grand Rapids.

Democrat—
Charles H. Bender, Grand Rapids.

LIEUTENANT GOVERNOR

Luren D. Dickinson, Charlotte.
Robert Y. Ogg, Detroit.
David E. Heinemann, Detroit.
William D. Gordon, Bay City.
F. P. Bohn, Newberry.

Democrat—
John P. Kirk, Ypsilanti.

Within five minutes of closing time Saturday petitions for the democratic slate, Charles H. Bender, of Grand Rapids, for governor; Brig. Gen. John P. Kirk, of Ypsilanti, for lieutenant governor, and John T. Winship, of Saginaw, for United States senator, were filed.

Petitions were filed for Congressman Frank Scott, of Alpena, for renomination, and for Dana H. Hinkley, of Petoskey, and J. Lee Morford, of Gaylord, for state senator.

Learn a Little Every Day

The city of Copenhagen is daily consuming 25,000 pounds of American salt pork.

In Switzerland there is said to be one Post Office for every family.

American made boots and shoes are selling in northwest India.

There is a beaver dam in New York which is said to be 150 years old.

There are 9,000 girls working on children's dresses in Greater New York.

The annual product of the American chicken yard is estimated at $500,000,000.

The Czar of Russia rides a bicycle, plays tennis and bowls ninepins.

Zinc production of the United States during 1915 amounted to 560,000 tons.

The world's population makes use of 5,500,000 glass eyes in the course of each year.

The average inhabitant of this earth uses more than two pounds of provisions per day.

One hundred and thirty-five million tons of coal are yearly required for steam railroads in this country.

There are 78,900 deaths due to cancer annually in the United States.

Sunstroke is caused by invisible violet rays from the sun, and not by heat.

Unions at Tulsa, Okla., will build a labor temple.

A lot of folks who expect to wear white wings in the hereafter will find them made of asbestos.

Our total production of lard amounts annually to nearly two billion pounds, one-third of which goes abroad.

Pennsylvania employs almost 70,000 women in the clothing industry.

This Week as it is Not in History

Monday, July 31.—Edwin Booth plays with Mary Pickford for the movies, 1809.

Tuesday, Aug. 1.—Lucires Bonaparte buys an automobile, 1780.

Wednesday, Aug. 2.—Prespiration from a black negro's face used as ink by Peter, the hermit, 1010.

Thursday, Aug. 3.—Mary, Queen of Scots, gives a pink tea just before being beheaded, 1519.

Friday, Aug. 4.—Whisk brooms used as breakfast food, 1804.

Saturday, Aug. 5.—Charles Dickens introduces slang into literature, 1840.

Sunday, Aug. 6.—Little Red Riding Hood has appendicitis, 210.

After a man gets married he is no longer self-possessed.

The average girl never turns up her nose at a man who knows enough to turn down the gas.

A woman can get more pleasure out of a good cry than a man can extract from a good laugh.

TAG DAY IN EAST JORDAN

Tag day in East Jordan on Saturday for the benefit of the Michigan Child Welfare League to aid them in their work of hunting up and caring for crippled or handicapped children proved a success in spite of the extreme heat. The finance committee who received the funds collected, Mrs. E. A. Ashley, A. Cameron, Dr. Hugh W. Dicken and Mayor A. E. Cross report the amount collected as $51.00. This will be directed to the work of the League in East Jordan and Charlevoix County. Many children from this county have already received assistance from the League and been cured or greatly benefited. Some cases in East Jordan were reported to the District Superintendent and each one will be carefully investigated and aid gladly given.

The Michigan Child Welfare League and Mrs. Mildred B. Kennedy wish to thank each person who in any way contributed in any way to make the day a success.

The local committee, Mrs. A. Cameron, Mrs. D. H. Fitch, Mrs. W. Robertson, Miss Barnett, Mrs. Hugh W. Dicken, Mrs. W. C. Merchant and Mrs. A. E. Cross and to the young people who so kindly offered the heart shaped tags for sale on the streets. To the citizens of East Jordan for their generous response to the appeal for the crippled child.

Besides helping the crippled children to get well, the League aids families where poverty threatens to break up the home. Mothers are pensioned by the League so that they may keep their children with them. The Michigan Child Welfare League is incorporated, non-sectarian and highly approved by the State Board of Corrections and Charities. The work of the League is supported entirely by voluntary gifts of the people, membership fees and proceeds from tag day sales.

WHAT JACK OVERHEARD

"This cellar is awfully damp," said the Rat-trap. "I'm afraid I'll catch malaria."

"If you don't catch malaria any better than you catch rats, you needn't be afraid," said the Kindling Wood.

"You seem to have a cold," said the Milk Pail to the Refrigerator.

"Yes, in my chest," said the Refrigerator, with a smile.

"I hate being locked up here in this dull place," said the Furnace.

"Oh, I don't think it's so bad," said the Fire.

"It's easy enough for you to talk," said the Furnace. "Fires can go out, but Furnaces can't."

"How did you happen to see all these things you tell us about?" asked the Coalbin of the Saw.

"The same way I saw everything else," said the Saw, with my teeth."

"I hear you called on the Refrigerator yesterday," said the Woodbox to the Pail. "Were you received pleasantly?"

"No. The Refrigerator treated me with great coldness," said the Pail.

"This house is beautiful upstairs," said the Furnace to the Poker. "The flues are going up there all the time and they told me all about it."

Aviator: (of the night shift) "I'll take care of him, I have to be up all night anyway."

Gold, silver, copper, quick silver, iron, nickel, tin, zinc, lead and aluminum are the ten minerals found in almost every home.

Crippled Mother Goose Rhymes

Ding dong, bell,
Pussy's in the well;
Who put her in?
Little Johnny Green,

And farmer Green had to send to town
For a sanitary engineer and a dredging machine to have the water purified, and it cost him $50 to get pussy out.

Drowns Sunday at Walloon Lake

Frank Laura Loses His Life While Bathing

Frank Laura, a young farmer living near Boyhe City, was drowned Sunday evening at Walloon Lake, when he was seized with cramps while bathing in the South Arm. He died before help could reach him, although several friends were in bathing near him at the time.

He leaves a wife and an eight week's old child, besides his mother and several brothers and sisters. The body was recovered within a half hour after he sank. Although a physician was immediately sent for and worked over him for more than an hour nothing could be done for him.

The funeral was held Tuesday and burial was made at Boyne City Cemetery.

FORMER PROSECUTOR AGAIN A CANDIDATE

"At the urgent request of my friends I have decided to become a candidate for Prosecuting Attorney on the Republican Ticket at the August primaries. My past record is well known to all. I will appreciate your support and should I be the successful candidate I will earnestly endeavor to faithfully and ably discharge the duties of the office."

DWIGHT H. FITCH.

HE COULD HARDLY WALK

Deranged kidneys cause rheumatism, aches, pains, soreness, stiffness. Ambrose Gary, Sulphur, Okla., writes: "I was bothered with kidney trouble ten years and at times could hardly walk. I began taking Foley Kidney Pills. I got relief from the first but continued till I had taken three bottles. I feel like a new man."—Hites Drug Store.

A busy man is one who can't find time to meddle with things that don't concern him.

ELBERT BEDE SAYS

Russians are great tea drinkers.

A young man makes a mistake when he inflates his income in bragging to his sweetheart, for if a marriage follows the wife is likely to guide her expenditures by what she has been told the income is—and hubby will hate to own up that he lied.

A woman doesn't realize how much some of her sisters must suffer until she marries a widower.

The man who can't support himself thinks the other fellow should be his brother's keeper.

The man who can make good at the polls doesn't have to make good at his post.

Some who think they are in the running merely have wheels in their head.

Nobody loves a fat man, but the fat girl sympathizes with him.

An unmarried maiden of 35 years may say she is unhappy—while her married sister remains silent.

The paragrapher who first said a woman couldn't suffer in silence gained quite a reputation as a wit, but did you ever know a woman to do any more fussing than a man with a pain in his stomach.

We are puzzled to know where some people get the idea that they should be immune from trouble.

When a woman gets to wondering whether or no she can afford a new hat, hubby knows it is merely a case of how much he can hold her down to.

Men are either going around looking for wives or going around looking for sympathy.

After a man has been foolish enough to wait eight years for a girl to make up her mind to marry him, he shouldn't kick about waiting the rest of his life for her to get ready to go somewhere with him.

While a young man is wondering whether he dare kiss a girl she is probably thinking about the sweetheart of the evening before who didn't stop to wonder.

No wonder Rockefeller's money is ainted if it is made out of the gasoline we have to smell.

Make love to another girl and you'll find out pretty fast how you stand with the first one.

The orange was originally a pear-shaped fruit about the size of a wild cherry.

It is estimated that 140,000,000 people speak the English language.

Why should a red-blooded American girl lower herself by marrying one of the bloody blue-blooded foreigners.

The person who can't get along without an appetizer already has an appetite he can't satisfy.

Many men get a good deal of credit trying to do something they can't accomplish, which, of course, disgusts those who are too lazy to try.

The person who shocks you doesn't necessarily have a magnetic personality.

An invitation to come again may sometimes be a hint not to make the present visit an endless one.

Trouble makers are as plentiful as peacemakers are scarce.

A pretty woman loves to walk down the street with a homely one.

About half the time the average man is forced to grin and bear it.

Mexico is a good enough place for Mexicans, and if foreigners had kept out of there we would have had no trouble.

Sixty million coconut trees are under cultivation in Ceylon.

It may have been the high cost of living that drove the prodigal son home.

We notice that folks who know it all have just as much curiosity as we have.

Of course we are not afraid to say to a person's face the things we say behind his back—we merely do not wish to hurt his feelings.

Some men even like to brag of how much they owe.

If at the age of 2 years a child doesn't know whether it pays to cry or not, it will never know enough to startle the world.

A GOOD THING FOR CHILDREN

Foley's Honey and Tar is particularly good cold, cough and croup medicine for children because it contains no opiates or habit-forming drugs. The "little colds" of summer, as well as the long standing, deep seated coughs, that hang on for months, are banished by its use. The first dose brings relief and comfort.—Hites Drug Store.

ALONG THE FIRING LINE

The President couldn't even sign the rural credits bill without making a speech—and in this one he told how his heart had ached for the farmer who found it so hard to borrow money. Therefore the President has signed a bill which compels the borrowing farmer first to buy some stock in a rural credit association, then to limit the amount of money he wants to borrow, then to confine the use of his borrowed money to a few objects, and then to take a long number of years in paying off the debt no matter how much he may accumulate meantime.

Judging from the comment of Democrats, the promotion of Representative Hay to the court of claims is a clear case of a man being kicked upstairs.

It is small wonder that the old-line Democrats are objecting to the presence of Progressives on their campaign committee. Mighty few Progressives are going to vote the Democratic ticket this fall—certainly not in numbers proportionate to even one member of a committee of a dozen members. Consequently, to give a Progressive a place that might be taken by a deserving Democrat is a sheer waste of a job.

The poison gas now being used along the Somme is said to paralyze the voice. Wonder if Bryan has been having a whiff of it.

News dispatches tell us every day or so of an important political conference the President has had with some of the Democratic campaign leaders. He is evidently of the opinion that the people of the country have in mind changing horses whether crossing a stream or not.

Chastising Carranza is peculiarly a function of the Wilson administration, whose child, politically speaking, Carranza is.

"If you want to make this fight on the tariff, we will point you to the reflection of the furnace fires which are blushing red against the skies," bawled Collier of Mississippi, to the Republicans, while delivering a home consumption speech on the seven-headed revenue measure which recently passed the House. All right, Mr. Collier. And the Republican party is going to place a firm grip on each one of your long, furry ears and point you to the wide-furrowed warfields of Europe blushing red with the blood of countless thousands slain with shot and shrapnel "made in America," carried to the front on American trucks and railroad cars, and fired from American guns, the manufacture of which revived the furnace fires, which, under the smothering influence of the Democratic tariff law, were mere heaps of ashes before the European war broke out. Can you meet that argument?

Some highly sensitive observers who make a fetish of figures have been pointing out Hughes' vote for Governor in 1908. The main thing to be remembered from that campaign, however, is that Hughes was re-elected in 1908 and that no Governor of New York has been re-elected since.

The biography of President Hayes which Prof. John W. Burgess has just published calls to mind the fact that it was during the Hayes administration that Diaz came to power in Mexico. "Mr. Hayes," says his biographer, "was not more pleased with the way Diaz came to the Presidency than was Mr. Wilson with the supposed or assumed complicity of Huerta in the killing of Madero, and there were the same violations of and dangers to American interests and the same boundary infractions to be dealt with. But Mr. Hayes was a practical statesman of refined manners—and to Mexico were vouchsafed thirty-five years of such peace and prosperity as it had never before enjoyed." The reflection on Mr. Wilson is none too harsh.

The Democratic platform of this year does not follow its Baltimore predecessor by incorporating a declaration that the pledges of the document are made to be observed in office as well as to be used in seeking votes. The reason for the omission is entirely clear. The promises of the Baltimore platform were so much more uniformly honored in the breach rather than in the observance that the Democrats this year sought to duck the obvious and individual and odious comparison. However, it is of small consequence, because the St. Louis platform is not the document which will be invoked during the next four years. The chart for this country's progress during that time was drafted at Chicago in the Republican convention.

Cranford (N.J.) Citizen—Mr. Hughes will be elected and we trust the control of the legislative branch of the government will at the same time pass from the hands that have made so complete a failure in every department of National affairs except the securing of offices and increasing expenses of administration.

HOTEL NAMES

If the rooms are dirty and the slop jar is cracked and the heaters suffering from chronic chill lasting from October to April, if the writing stand has only three legs and is propped against the wall, if the extra comforter on the foot of the two inch thick hammock-esque bed looks as if it had been used as a road drag after a recent rain, if there is only one towel (about the size of a handkerchief and made of cheesecloth), if the wall paper is hanging loose from the ceiling and peeling off from the walls, it is The Palace.

If ever an Indian lived within forty miles of that place, especially a chief, the hotel is called by that chief's name; Poweshiek, Cherokee, Iroquois, Ojibwa—anything like that, just so it is an Indian chief's name.

Now just why they should name a perfectly good hotel after an extremely dead and unhousebroken Indian is more than my dopesheet can inform me. They might as well name a pill after a Christian Scientist—think of the Mary Baker G. Eddy Little Liver Pellet!—a brand of soap after a hobo, an ulcer after a Papuan, knee-length underwear after an Eskimo, a brand of cocktail after Bryan or a California city after a Jap, as to name a hotel after an Indian chief.

The only way one of those old time Indian sachems could have been got into one of these good hotels especially one with a bath in it, would have been to blindfold him and back him in. If you had got him there once and showed him the nappery and the four-walled bedrooms and the fire escapes and the other devices suggesting snares and deadfalls, he would have broken forth with a piercing screech and been hard to catch.

Indians are all right, and so are some hotels. But why this mania for naming a hotel that gets just as far from the old time Indian's way of living as possible—why name that rocco palace after the old time Indian chieftain, just because the old scalp-artist is dead and can't resent it?

The other regular names for hotels are The Inn, The Commercial, The Waldorf and the Parker House. In Canada, all the small town hotels are named after the King. And if ever he stopped at some of them incog., he would have the proprietor drawn and quartered for lese majeste.—From Judge.

Time.

Time is something to miss trains by and to buy things on. It is often represented by a picture of a bald-headed old individual carrying a huge scythe in one hand and an hour glass in the other. He is supposed to flop the hour glass upside down at 12 p. m. or a. m. New Year's eve. The scythe is supposed to represent his propensity for cutting people off in the heyday of their lives. It is a mistake to represent time as a man who cannot recommend anybody's brand of hair restorer, but can sit for a picture of a man who attributes his hale old age to malt whiskey and pipe tobacco. Time should be represented by a lady, because nobody can tell by looking at ladies nowadays how old they are. There are also several varieties of Time—among them being Good Time, High Old Time, Dull Time, Meal Time and Bed Time. Of the plural varieties of the may be mentioned Hard Times, which is sufficient to think of at the present time. Time is measured by clocks, also by waiting for street cars, and by taxi-cab meters, which if not carefully watched will register all the time there is and draw on several aeons of eternity. Another interesting variety of time is the Last Time, which has to do with intoxicating liquors, good night kisses and getting to work late.—From Judge.

Reflections of a Bachelor

Nearly everybody tries for the lying championship.

A couple in love can get sentimental over a steam radiator.

What makes a woman so proud of her children is nobody else is.

The dam of the reservoir of a man's money breaks every time he gets any.

A girl can't keep her secret engagement to herself even if it hasn't happened yet.

Never call a big strong man a liar; it is safer to hire some other fellow to break the news to him.
